PHP is a general-purpose scripting language that was developed for the purpose of creating dynamic pages. It is a preferred tool for e-Commerce projects because it:

- Does not require a framework for website development.
- Is very safe and secure.
- Offers your choice of language.
- Supports multiple popular databases such as MySQL, Oracle, and Sybase.
- Provides codes that can be embedded into the HTML source document and interpreted with a web server with a PHP module processor.
- Makes for speedy turnaround time at negligible development cost.
- Requires little code for website development
- Helps with server-side scripting
- Is deployable on most Web servers, operating systems and platforms, and with many relational database management systems (RDBMSs).

PHP offers several benefits that facilitate easy and effective Web development. PHP is immune to a large number of web hazards, this making it safe and secure for all e-Commerce businesses.

> The inherent advantages of this scripting language help maintain its popularity and is the reason why top developers, such as Kaizen, are able to put it to full use.
